Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

This house is a 1-story ranch style dwelling constructed of brick with frame additions. According to the owner, she and her husband constructed the house in 1950. The main structure is a side-gabled brick building with asphalt shingled roof and 6/6 double-hung vinyl replacement windows. Various wood frame additions have been added to the eastern gable side of the house, and the western end of the house has a small cross gable. The brick on the house has been painted white.

Behind the house is a fenced in area with in-ground pool. West of the house is a small frame shed outbuilding that holds garden tools. This house is not an architecturally significant example of its type, nor is it associated with historically significant persons or events, and therefore does not possess the historical or architectural significance necessary for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places. There is no concentration of historic properties surrounding the house that may be eligible as a National Register Historic District.
